

A Party At The Farm

Once upon a time there was a short dog named Barkley. He lived in an old barn with his best friend, Thor. Thor was a beautiful horse, and he and Barkley loved playing chase together in their enormously large yard. One day, Barkley and Thor decided to have a party to celebrate Spring. They invited their friend Nora. She was a beautiful, orange bird who lived in a tree next to the farm. When Nora arrived for the party, Barkley and Thor were ready to play some fun card games. When they were done playing games, they went to the garden to have cake and ice cream. Thor ate a whole carton of ice cream all by himself. When the party was over Barkley gave Nora a bag of goodies. Nora found a silly sounding horn in the bag, but her favorite treat was the birdseed bag filled with sweet corn. After Nora left the party, it was time for Barkley and Thor to sleep. Barkley was so tired that he didn't even snore, and he and Thor had good dreams.

